

BWI Flash Fiction Report - Year Ended 31 December 2019

I am pleased to report to the Ballarat Writers Inc. (BWI) Committee and our members that our Flash Fiction competition was run in every month of 2019.

We instituted providing a wine-glass engraved with our logo and the details of the monthly winner's name, and the title of the winning entry. This prize was very well received.

Each month we collected between four and eleven entries which were voted on by readers. The entry with the most votes was not necessarily the winner of the monthly competition as it is possible to subvert results.

The number of votes for each entry was considered along with attention to grammar, syntax, punctuation, appropriate spelling, and the ability of the writers to follow the strict competition requirements.

This competition will continue in 2020 if one of our members is prepared to take on the role; otherwise, the competition will go into recess.
